

Doxy.me Instructions for Telehealth Patients

You will receive a text message a few minutes prior to your appointment. The text message will come from a number you will not recognize but when you open it, you'll see that it's an invitation for your telehealth appointment.

The text message will have a link for you to click to begin your visit.

You will be prompted to enter some information and to enable audio and video.

You'll be placed in a virtual waiting room.

It may take a few minutes, but a member of your care team will soon join you.
